

GrandPa Steve's Kids

"It's Alright" by Stephen W. Sisson, Ph.D

CHORUS:

It's all right!

Everything's gonna be all right,

don't' you worry now.

Later, you'll see, everything's gonna work out for the best.

At times, I would wake up with nightmares from TV, or spiders my sister teased surely would eat me.

Mom, or my dad would come to my rescue, and shoo away those bad dreams help me get restful.

Falling asleep in their arms and they'd say:

"Tomorrow will bring you a brand-new day!"

And it's ... CHORUS

Mom sat me down before she passed away said:

"Life is your own, go live it each day.

Care for yourself, give love unto others,

especially your sisters, all of your brothers.

If trouble or pain gets you, here's what you say:"

"Tomorrow will bring me a brand-new day!"

And it's ... CHORUS

At times in our lives, oh yeah fear just takes over.

Shatters the joy and love Life has to offer.

Remember that fear it's a mind killing enemy.

You gotta face your fears, tell them to leave.

Stand with your friends and your neighbors and say:

"Tomorrow will bring us a brand-new day!"

CHORUS:

It's all right!

Everything's gonna be all right,

don't' you worry now.

Later, you'll see, everything's gonna work out for the best.

And

It's all right!

Everything's gonna be all right,

GrandPa Steve's Kids

don't' you worry now.

Later, you'll see, everything's gonna work out for the best.

Everything's gonna work out for the best.

Everything's gonna work out for the best,

cause it's all right! All Right!
